Sea for Yourself®

Snorkeling Safaris

Dear Friends and Snorkeling Enthusiasts,

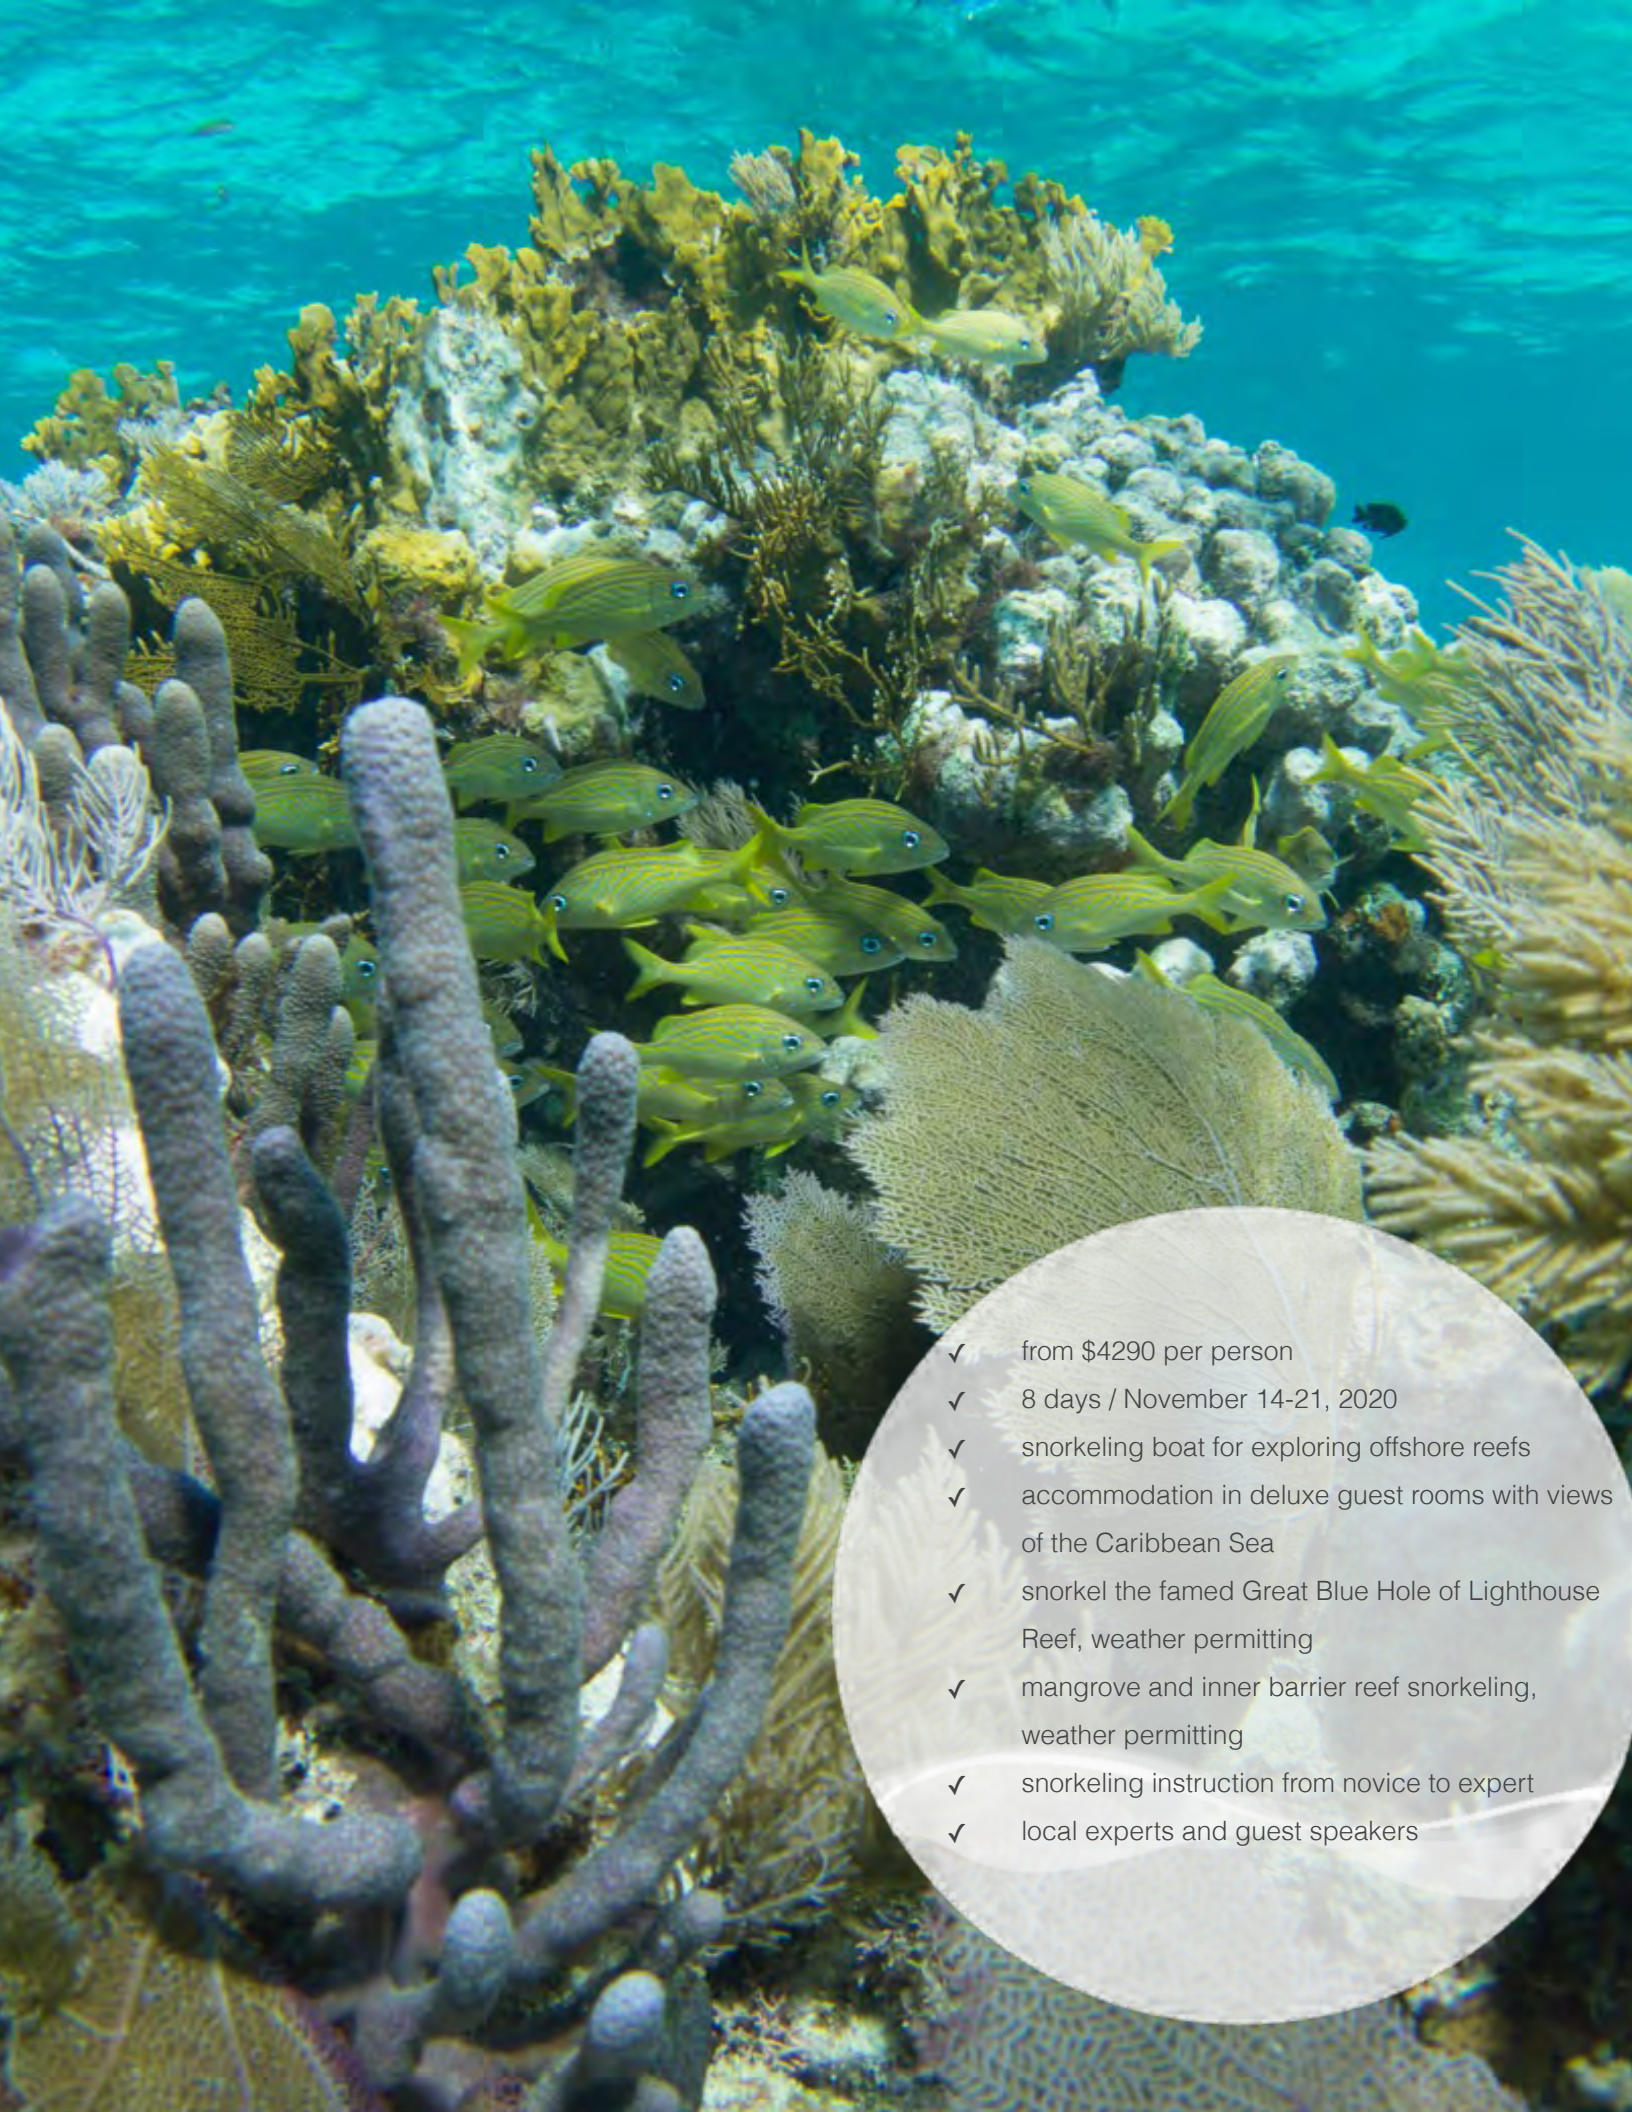

In the spirit of underwater discovery, Sea for Yourself is dedicated to offering you the world's best snorkeling opportunities.

For our upcoming Snorkeling the Reefs of Belize program, we have chosen a region of Belize's underwater environment that is as diverse as it is expansive. Protected shallow coral gardens, turtle grass meadows, and mangrove channels, each with its own distinct residents, are easily accessible from our resort. We also plan to drift snorkel where we will typically view squadrons of reef squid, schools of snappers, inquisitive gray angelfish, beautifully camouflaged seahorses and the massive southern stingray, which can be up to five feet wide.

We expect that a highlight of the program will be the opportunity to snorkel along the inner rim of the Great Blue Hole of Lighthouse Reef, the most easterly of Belize's three atolls. The Blue Hole is famous for its perfectly circular shape, 984 feet in diameter, and its precipitous walls plunging 410 feet deep through clear water to a distant dark bottom. We plan to snorkel around its lip where we can closely observe one of the richest and most colorful shallow water coral communities found anywhere in the Caribbean. In my opinion, this area offers snorkelers the most prolific shallow sponges and sea fans found anywhere---providing panoramic vistas of brilliant reds, greens, yellows, and vibrant purples.

I invite you join us in November 2020 as we snorkel the reefs of Belize!

Trip Overview

Snorkeling in the protected shallow coral gardens of Belize!

Although conceptually distant from the mainland, the coral island of Little Caye Bokel is geographically only about 1.5 hours by boat from Belize City. The Turneffe Island Resort lies on the southern elbow of the Turneffe Atoll in the Turneffe Island Group, a collection of small “remote” isles forming what many biologists consider one of the few coral atolls in the Western Hemisphere. This location is ideal, offering a variety of snorkeling opportunities just minutes away from the island, including a number of excellent shallow, protected patch reefs.

Weather-permitting, we plan to visit Lighthouse Reef and the Great Blue Hole, a grand cavern whose roof collapsed long ago. Although the Blue Hole is promoted principally as a dive destination, this thriving coral community also offers snorkelers the most prolific shallow sponges and sea fans found anywhere, providing panoramic vistas of brilliant reds, greens, yellows, and vibrant purples. We also plan to visit Half Moon Caye Natural Monument, part of the Belize Barrier Reef Reserve System World Heritage Site. The island, one half endangered littoral forest and one half stunning palm-dotted beach, is host to a thriving bird population. We plan to complete our visit to the island with a snorkel from the inside of the barrier reef drifting west towards the island's dock.

While Sea for Yourself programs feature snorkeling as the top priority, this particular occasion provides certified SCUBA divers with excellent diving opportunities. The resort offers a complete complement of tanks, weights, rental gear, and divemaster services. Fly fishing is also available. After our daily snorkeling activities, evenings will be spent enjoying leisurely dinners and interpretive sessions.

Species great and small!

On our daily snorkeling excursions, we typically view vibrant coral gardens with abundant marine life including squadrons of reef squid, schools of snappers, inquisitive gray angelfish, midnight parrotfish, butterflyfish, and the massive southern stingray which can be up to five feet wide.

At the Great Blue Hole we can expect to find prolific gardens of colorful sponges and sea fans. Here yellow and green tube sponges can extend several feet, and barrel sponges can attain over three feet in diameter. At the Great Blue Hole we often spot Pederson's cleaning shrimp, neon gobies, angelfish, butterflyfish, hamlets and small groupers. Some of the largest lobsters in Belize can also be found at Lighthouse Reef.

At Half Moon Caye, located at the southeast corner of Lighthouse Reef Atoll, one of the principal inhabitants is the Red-Footed Booby with a population of around 4,000 breeding birds. This small island supports what is considered the only viable breeding red-footed booby colony in the Western Caribbean. Once onshore, we can climb to the top of a sturdy observation tower that rises above the forest canopy. There we will be treated to an unbelievable view as nearly every tree is covered with perched booby birds in various stages of growth or mating. We will most likely also have an opportunity to see the other inhabitants of the caye, including thieving Magnificent Frigate Birds and Spiny-tailed Iguanas, crawling around in the branches. While the nesting birds are comprised mainly frigate and Red-Footed Boobies, a total of 98 bird species have been recorded on the island, including pelican, osprey, egret, gulls, storks and terns. The waters surrounding Half Moon Caye also provide refuge for what is thought to be the healthiest grouper aggregation in Belize.

Itinerary

Day 1

Our program begins when we meet at the International Belize Airport where your flights should be scheduled to arrive no later than 2:30pm. From the airport, we transfer by boat to Turneffe Island Resort, our home for the next 7 nights. Join fellow program members for light snacks, registration and a brief orientation followed by dinner. D

Days 2-7

Beyond the Belize Barrier Reef, and nestled within the Turneffe Atoll, is Little Caye Bokel and the 14-acre Turneffe Island Resort. Using the resort's boat reserved exclusively for our group, we enjoy morning and afternoon visits to protected shallow reefs where "gardens" of hard and soft coral harbor many species of marine life.

We have also planned a one-day excursion to Lighthouse Reef, weather dependent. Only about a 1.5 hour boat ride from the Turnoff Island Resort, this reef houses the Great Blue Hole, a famous geologic structure that offers us some of the best snorkeling in the entire Caribbean. We have planned a picnic lunch on Half Moon Caye, now a National Monument dedicated to the preservation of the rare Red-Footed Booby and the Magnificent Frigate Bird. Administered by the Audubon Society, this sanctuary is easily toured on level, well-marked walking trails and features an elevated platform from which nesting birds are easily viewed.

After lunch, we plan to conclude our day with an afternoon drift snorkel in the beautiful shallow waters found inside the barrier reef near the island.

The evenings are spent enjoying leisurely dinners and interpretive sessions led by your Sea for Yourself staff. B,L,D

After breakfast, we transfer by boat back to Belize City and the Belize International Airport. Departing flights should be scheduled for no earlier than 11 a.m. B

Trip Preparation

Skill level

This program will be enjoyed by all snorkelers, from novice to expert. Our tour leader will gladly provide any needed snorkeling instruction, from floating to free diving. Whenever possible, we will seek out protected water for our snorkeling excursions, but at times the surface may be a bit choppy due to wind. Any “hiking” will be easy to moderate on well-marked trails.

Climate and weather

Belize's climate is mild, subtropical, with cooling Caribbean breezes. The average temperature of 79°F varies little throughout the year. The rainy season extends from July to January, and the remainder of the year is usually very dry. We have chosen a time that should give us suitable weather conditions, but please note that storms over North America can affect Belize and other areas of the Caribbean. And as with any tropical destination, there will always be a chance of rain, mosquitoes, and sand flies.

Please remember that some kind of covering (such as a Lycra suit or even pajamas!) when in the water is highly recommended as protection from sun, occasional stinging zooplankton, and to prevent coral abrasions. We strongly recommend that you consider wearing a wet suit.

Departure information

After you have reserved space on a trip and the program is confirmed, you will receive information to help you prepare for departure, including airline information to arrange for your international and/or domestic flights, optional supplemental travel insurance information, a complete packing and a reading list and other useful information about our destination.

Insurance

Sea for Yourself provides participants who are U.S. or Canadian citizens with limited medical, accident and evacuation coverage under our group travel insurance policy. We highly recommend the purchase of optional baggage and trip cancellation insurance; information will be sent to registrants. Exclusions for pre-existing conditions may be waived with the prompt purchase of travel insurance.
